Dear Xxxxx:

This letter is in response to your letter dated April 12, 2000. We apologize for the delay in responding to your inquiry. The nature of your letter and the information you have provided require that we respond with a General Information Letter, which is designed to provide general information, is not a statement of Department policy and is not binding on the Department. See 2 Ill. Adm. Code 1200.120 subsections (b) and (c), which can be found on the Department's Internet website at <http://www.revenue.state.il.us/legalinformation/regs/part1200>.

In your letter, you have stated and made inquiry as follows:

I'm in the process of incorporating my free lance reporting business called COMPANY, and have reached a point that an official decision is needed on whether the news stories I'll be providing radio stations are a personal service or a product.

The day-to-day function of my free lance business will include conducting interviews, writing stories with the facts and audio gathered during the interviews, and then either sending the stories via phone or (cassette and) mail to radio stations that will then play the stories during their news casts.

Please respond in writing as to whether this constitutes a personal service or product.

Thank you for your time and attention to this matter.

We are answering your letter under the understanding that you are selling your stories. Illinois Retailers' Occupation and Use Taxes do not apply to sales of service that do not involve the transfer of tangible personal property to customers. However, if tangible personal property is transferred incident to sales of service, this will result in either Service Occupation Tax liability or Use Tax liability for the servicemen depending upon which tax base the servicemen choose to calculate their tax liability. For your general information we are enclosing a copy of 86 Ill. Adm. Code 140.101 regarding sales of service and Service Occupation Tax.

If you merely send your stories in by telephone or by computer (e-mail etc.), then no tangible personal property would be transferred and no tax will be incurred. However, if you send then in through the use of the mail, video cassette, audio cassette, or through other tangible means, then you will incur either Service Occupation Tax liability or Use Tax liability depending upon which tax base you choose as described below. Persons providing the types of services you describe generally qualify for and choose the fourth method listed below.

Under the Service Occupation Tax Act, businesses providing services (i.e. servicemen) are taxed on tangible personal property transferred as an incident to sales of service. See the enclosed copy of 86 Ill. Adm. Code 140.101. The purchase of tangible personal property that is transferred to the service customer may result in either Service Occupation Tax liability or Use Tax liability for the servicemen depending upon which tax base the servicemen choose to calculate their tax liability. The servicemen may calculate their tax base in one of four ways: (1) separately stated selling price of tangible personal property transferred incident to service; (2) 50% of the servicemen's entire bill; (3) Service Occupation Tax on the servicemen's cost price if the servicemen are registered de minimis servicemen; or (4) Use Tax on the servicemen's cost price if the servicemen are de minimis and are not otherwise required to be registered under the Retailers' Occupation Tax Act.

Using the first method, servicemen may separately state the selling price of each item transferred as a result of the sale of service. The tax is then calculated on the separately stated selling price of the tangible personal property transferred. If the servicemen do not separately state the selling price of the tangible personal property transferred, they must use 50% of the entire bill to the service customer as the tax base. Both of the above methods provide that in no event may the tax base be less than the servicemen's cost price of the tangible personal property transferred.

The third way servicemen may account for their tax liability only applies to de minimis servicemen who have either chosen to be registered or are required to be registered because they incur Retailers' Occupation Tax liability with respect to a portion of their business. Servicemen may qualify as de minimis if they determine that the annual aggregate cost price of tangible personal property transferred as an incident of the sale of service is less than 35% of the total annual gross receipts from service transactions (75% in the case of pharmacists and persons engaged in graphics arts production). Servicemen no longer have the option of determining whether they are de minimis using a transaction by transaction basis. Registered de minimis servicemen are authorized to pay Service Occupation Tax (which includes local taxes) based upon their cost price of tangible personal property transferred incident to the sale of service. Such servicemen should give suppliers resale certificates and remit Service Occupation Tax using the Service Occupation Tax rates for their locations.

The final method of determining tax liability may be used by de minimis servicemen that are not otherwise required to be registered under the Retailers' Occupation Tax Act. Such de minimis servicemen handle their tax liability by paying Use Tax to their suppliers. If their suppliers are not registered to collect and remit tax, the servicemen must register, self-assess and remit Use Tax to the Department. The servicemen are considered to be the end-users of the tangible personal property transferred incident to service. Consequently, they are not authorized to collect a "tax" from the service customers.

Persons providing the types of services you describe generally choose the last method listed above. For example, such persons would purchase an audio cassette and pay their Use Tax (sales tax) liability to the retailer at the time of purchase. No further tax liability is incurred and no returns need to be filed with the Department.

I hope this information is helpful. The Department of Revenue maintains a website, which can be accessed at www.revenue.state.il.us. If you have further questions related to the Illinois sales tax laws, please contact the Department's Taxpayer Information Division at (217) 782-3336.

If you are not under audit and you wish to obtain a binding Private Letter Ruling regarding your factual situation, please submit all of the information set out in items 1 through 8 of the enclosed copy of Section 1200.110(b).

Very truly yours,
